“ My mom, Mary Lou White and Jean Howland were lifelong best friends. My earliest memories of life include Jean. Jean was a living example of all that is love. She was kind, thoughtful, nurturing, genuine, witty, and supportive. When needed, Jean could also be direct, providing advise that encouraged one to reach deep and do the right thing. I still live by her words of wisdom, “honey, that’s not your committee”. Jean was a force of nature finding the perfect balance between power and calm that women of her time needed to succeed. Jean and Bill held our family together when my dad was in Vietnam. They provided support, stability, and normalcy in times of uncertainty. The Howland family always showed up through good times and challenges, quietly changing lives with no need for recognition. I will miss her wisdom and guidance and her beautiful voice that could always calm me. “Oh little Di it will be OK”. Stephanie, Nicole, and Willem, may your memories comfort you through this difficult time. She loved you all so very deeply.

With Love,

Di White

“ Jean was my neighbor from 2015-2018. She was the sweetest, kindest, most thoughtful person. When we moved I was so sad to lose her as a neighbor. She thought so much of my kids, she gave them toys and even the big play set from the backyard. I've missed our chats since we moved. I'm sorry for your loss. We were blessed to know Jean.
